GLOBAL SUPPLY CHAIN & B2B COMPLIANCE PROTOCOLS

Document Ref:	ZSI/SG/EX-2026-V1	Effective Date:	July 16, 2026
Jurisdiction:	Republic of India	Status:	Official / Non-Negotiable

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO ALL INTERNATIONAL BUYERS

The execution of any Proforma Invoice (PI), Purchase Order (PO), or the electronic remittance of any advance token deposit to Zhen Sea International LLP constitutes an absolute, irrevocable, and unconditional agreement to all terms, strict clauses, and mandates outlined within this compliance instrument. No verbal variations, emails, or buyer-specific procurement policies shall override these provisions under any corporate or legal circumstance.

1. ABSOLUTE & IRREVOCABLE ORDER CONFIRMATION PROTOCOL

1.1 Legally Binding Execution: An international consignment order is officially recognized, legally binding, and immediately locked into our global raw materials and supply allocation pipeline the exact split-second a Proforma Invoice is countersigned by the Buyer, or when the initial advance deposit clears into the authorized bank accounts of Zhen Sea International LLP.

1.2 Absolute Non-Cancellation Mandate: Under no circumstances, and in no situation whatsoever—including but not limited to sudden global market fluctuations, oceanic freight price surges, import tariff changes in the destination country, inland logistical or custom bottlenecks, or internal corporate restructuring/operational shifts within the buyer's organization—shall the buyer possess the right to cancel, revoke, suspend, or scale down any confirmed order.

1.3 Liquidated Damages: If a buyer attempts a structural breach by backing out of an active allocation or failing to fulfill timely commercial milestones, the entire transaction value remains due as a contractual obligation, and international arbitration will be pursued to recover direct corporate overhead losses.

2. STRICT STIPULATIONS: ZERO-RETURN & MANDATORY MARINE INSURANCE

2.1 Finality of Port Dispatch: Zhen Sea International LLP operates under a strict, non-negotiable Zero-Return Policy. Once a bulk cargo consignment is safely loaded onto the physical vessel or air carrier at the port of origin (Load Port) and the master Bill of Lading (B/L) is electronically generated, the goods are contractually recognized as final sales and are entirely non-returnable.

2.2 Trans-Shipment Risk Mitigation: No cargo returns, product re-shipments, or reverse-logistics routing requests will be entertained, evaluated, or accepted under any conditions.

2.3 Carrier & Insurance Mandate: In the event of any physical damage during maritime transit, port pilferage, secondary custom retention, environmental moisture damage, or total catastrophic loss, the Buyer holds the exclusive and sole legal responsibility to independently initiate, manage, and settle financial claims directly with the designated Marine Insurance Underwriters. Zhen Sea International LLP holds zero liability and bears no operational, financial, or custom risk once the goods cross the ship's rail under the mutually executed Incoterms.

3. COMMERCIAL COMPULSORY PAID SAMPLES MANIFESTO

3.1 Zero Gratis Policy: To preserve the rigorous industrial supply chain standards and eliminate speculative inquiries, Zhen Sea International LLP does not distribute free trade evaluation samples to any international procurement agencies, commercial brokers, or prospective buyer networks.

3.2 Sample Costing Allocation: Any requested pre-shipment evaluation samples (including agricultural goods, spices, leather portfolios, or apparel metrics) are strictly subject to an upstream payment requirement covering:

A) The standard commercial/production cost of the product sample itself.

B) 100% of the associated international air express courier levies, customs duties, and handling freight fees.

3.3 Dispatch Clearance: All sample-related payments must be cleared via secure telegraphic transfer or designated commercial payment channels prior to any packing, validation, or dispatch protocols from our regional distribution hubs.

4. BUYER COMPLIANCE, TERMINAL ARRIVALS & TOTAL ASSET PROTECTION

4.1 Balance Payment Deadlines: The buyer is contractually obligated to clear all outstanding financial balances strictly within the timelines specified in the initial proforma or commercial invoices (e.g., immediately upon presentation of the scanned copy of the Bill of Lading).

4.2 Instant Token Forfeiture: If the buyer fails to remit the pending balance or fails to officially clear terminal customs arrivals at the destination port within the standard container free-days, the entire advance token/deposit stands automatically and irrevocably forfeited to the seller as liquidated damages.

4.3 Consignment Salvage Rights: In the event of an unresolved buyer default, the seller retains the absolute legal right to re-route, auction, or liquidate the active cargo to any secondary global buyer to recover operational costs, container demurrage, and port penalties, with zero refund obligations toward the original buyer.

5. DISPUTE RESOLUTION & CORPORATE JURISDICTION

5.1 Governing Law: These global supply guidelines, along with all commercial trade executions by Zhen Sea International LLP, are governed, interpreted, and enforced strictly in accordance with the laws of the Republic of India.

5.2 Exclusive Arbitration: Any legal bottlenecks or unresolved commercial claims shall be referred exclusively to institutional arbitration in India, conducted in the English language. The competent courts in the state of registration of the seller shall hold exclusive territorial jurisdiction over any disputes.
